

The Public Art Program

The Public Art Program was established through the Public Art Ordinance approved by the City Commission in 2003. The Ordinance created the Public Art Committee that oversees the implementation of the Public Art Program along with representatives from the City's Community Development Division.

The City of Coral Springs Public Art Committee can approve artwork purchases up to $20,000 through the Public Art Ordinance. Purchases above that amount must be ultimately approved by the City Commission.

This year's exhibition is to select an artwork that represents the City's mission a place to live, work and raise a family.

Sculpture on Sample Program

The City of Coral Springs and the Public Art Committee announce the third Sculpture on Sample Program which runs from January 2012 through April 2012. This exhibition will display ten artworks along Sample Road between Coral Springs Drive and University Drive.

The Public Art Committee needs your opinion on all ten artworks. Let your voice be heard. Visit the City's public art website (CoralSprings.org/publicart) and let us know what you think. Interested citizens are invited to provide comments up until on April 13, 2012. The Committee will utilize this feedback to ultimately select up to two artworks to purchase.

No tax dollars go toward purchasing public art in Coral Springs. All financing comes from a fee charged to developers who have projects larger than 12,500 square feet. Developers may contribute to the Public Art Fund or purchase an artwork to display on their property in accordance with Chapter 6 of the City's Land Development Code.
